Flood Plain Assessment Plan Will Go To Voters

By Elizabeth Cowley

On July 16 the Monterey County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to put the Carmel River Flood Assessment Zone to a public vote in November. The Board had been moving toward approving the zone administratively however at least 1882 letters of protest (25% of the voters within the zone who voted in the 1994 election) had been received requiring the Board to either drop the zone or put it to a public vote.

Mike Armstrong, General Manager of the Monterey County Water Resources Agency (MCWRA), said that 3084 protests had been received and that a statistical analysis of those protests projected that 1931 were probably valid. Supervisor Sam Karas initially suggested that the Board postpone a decision until the protests could be validated. If the protests came up short the zone could still be approved in time to be incorporated into next year's tax rolls. Karas later moved to put the zone to a public vote after Tony Anchundo from the Monterey County Elections Department said "I would have to assume that there are sufficient protests." With 7530 people within the zone who voted in the 1994 election and 1931 probable valid protests Karas said "There are 5599 voters we have not heard from ... we should allow them to vote it up or down." Supervisor Simon Salinas agreed because the zone was not "a top down" creation, rather formulated by a citizens coalition.

Tom Rowley, Vice President of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association said "People want the right to vote when you are going to jack up their taxes." Rowley further suggested that public safety funds from Proposition 172, for which we are already paying, be examined as a possible source of funding for the flood control projects.

The zone would collect $326,000 annually from property owners throughout the Carmel River basin to fund flood control activities including channelization, sand bar removal and an alert system which would be carried out by the MCWRA. Representatives from both the MCWRA and the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) testified that the proposed flood prevention activities are not currently funded or carried out by the MPWMD and would not represent a duplication of effort.

Property owners within the 100 year flood plain would pay twice the per parcel charge of those outside the flood plain however in terms of total revenue those outside the flood plain would fund about two-thirds of the flood control activities.

Sixty percent of the 23 people who addressed the Board were opposed to the zone. Many uplanders living miles away from the river or on cliffs strenuously opposed paying for flood control when they would receive no benefit. Robert Greenwood said the Zone "will not prevent floods .. it can't do what it is intended to do. The notice said 'this is not a tax' so it must be a benefit assessment but for those of us who live far from the flood plain - and will receive no benefit - this is a tax."

Mike Armstrong said that the assessment was basin wide "recognizing that everyone contributes to runoff." Bob Bogardus, Co-Chair of the Carmel River Coalition which has acted as the zone steering committee, said "It's time to do something." adding that the zone can't prevent flooding but

Sister Cities Agree To Split New Water From Pebble Beach

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) voted to approve the first reading of Ordinance 84 allocating 150 acre feet of water from the Pebble Beach water reclamation plant at its July 15 meeting. The vote was 4-3; Directors Ely, Ernst and Hughes dissenting.

The Pebble Beach reclamation plant was designed to treat wastewater for irrigation use thus freeing up 800 acre feet of potable water. 380 acre feet are reserved for the project sponsors, including the Pebble Beach Company, and 420 acre feet go to the MPWMD. Due to start up difficulties and 1995 flooding the plant has only been producing about 700 acre feet. In addition, not all the reclaimed water has been used for irrigation due to high salt content although the Pebble Beach Company is trying to solve the salt problem through treating the water with gypsum. Director Hughes said "I am voting against this because the contract hasn't been met yet. I have no doubt that the 800 acre feet will be met but it hasn't been met yet."

With the exception of Monterey, the 8 Mayors within the district voted to split the allocation equally. Dan Albert, Mayor of Monterey, disagreed with the equal distribution, "It does not consider a regional reserve." Albert said that Community Hospital is proposing an expansion, requiring 18 acre feet of water, which would benefit everyone. Director Karas proposed that the other jurisdictions donate 2 acre feet of their allocations to the hospital.

Jane Haines representing Cal-Am Rate Payers Group (CARP) questioned the validity of the districts initial study as required under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). Haines said the district used old data prepared before the state ruled that Cal-Am does not have a legal right to 10,730 acre feet of Carmel River water adding "CEQA looks at actual physical effects on real things like fish and plants and what this is about is taking 150 acre

Penny G. Vandervort, 42, born June 20, 1954 in King City, died July 13, 1996.

She was a long time resident of Carmel Valley. She was the beloved mother of three children, January Van Ausdall, 21, Jeffrey Vandervort, 16, and Bean Vandervort, 13.

Penny was a certified nurses' aid and in-home companion. She also worked with the Monterey County Election Department for many years. She loved country-western music and French vanilla Cafe Vienna.

Penny also leaves behind her mother, Barbara Branstetter, brother Branny Branstetter, both of Carmel Valley, sister Brenda Lambert of Seaside, and many nieces and nephews, two great-nephews and many good friends. She was preceded in death by her brother, Jimmy Branstetter, in 1970 and her father, Milton Branstetter, in 1990.

Penny was a most giving person who gave fully from her heart, and we will miss her greatly.

A trust fund has been established for the children thorough Bank of America. Donations may be sent to The Penny Vandervort Memorial Fund, P. O. Box 2222, Monterey, Ca. 93942-2222.

A gathering of friends and family will take place on Saturday, July 20, 1996, 10 a.m. at the Skinner Ranch, Jamesburg.

feet away from ... a river that is dying, fish that are dying and plants that are literally dying of thirst and saying that this has no significant environmental impact." Haines said if the district intends to proceed they will need to prepare a supplemental Environmental Impact Report. Director Ernst said "We are going to get ourselves into an environmental fight costing lots of money over a minuscule amount of water ... this is a preposterous expenditure of public funds" and added that the water is "fictional".

Of people who spoke against the 150 acre foot allocation, enough water for an additional 600 homes, the consensus was that the district should not allocate the water until the plant meets its 800 acre foot goal and a replacement source for the illegal diversion of 10,730 acre feet has been secured. Henrietta Stern, MPWMD Project Manager, said the water is "not new water but water savings" however, the water still ultimately comes from the Carmel River. Another resounding concern was the inadequacy of the district's initial study which said that the allocation would have no significant impact on the environment which seems to be in conflict with the state order requiring a replacement source for 10,730 acre feet of Carmel River water because the pumping has caused environmental damage to the river environment.

Although representatives from the Sierra Club, League of Women Voters, Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, Carmel Steelhead Association, POWR (Protect Our Water Resources), CARP and several individuals spoke against the allocation Karas said "We are going to deliver to the people - the people in this room represent a part of the district but we must represent them all."

Karas said the water will go to people who have legal lots of record, "I think they have a right to develop." Karas said that in his district the water will be used for a boys and girls club and a seniors development at the mouth of the valley.

In September of last year the MPWMD turned down a request by the Mayors and Supervisors to allocate water from the reclamation plant because it was not producing the anticipated 800 acre feet. At that time the board scolded the Pebble Beach reclamation plant for not meeting expectations. At that September meeting Director Pendergrass said "Here we are trying to sell a dam in the midst of this" adding "our cities don't have no guarantee." At the July meeting, with no dam, Pendergrass commended the Pebble Beach Company for its commitment voted to allocate the water.

Chair Burkleo said "I'll grant you that .. maybe its just paper water" but she voted for the allocation because "six mayors voted to allocate this water." Patricia Bernardi said "Mayors will always be asking for water. The 420 acre feet were presented as a drought reserve and rate payers have been paying for that water. If you give it away will you reimburse us?"

Two of the four directors voting for the allocation are appointed, not elected, members; Karas representing the 5th district and Mayoral representative Pendergrass. Of the two remaining supporters of the allocation Haddad said "I don't think there is the shortage we have been hearing. If I thought there was a water shortage I would vote against it" and Burkleo, at the June meeting, agreed that it is O.K. for the district to allocate water it does not have.

Barring any unforeseen changes of heart, the MPWMD will approve the final reading of Ordinance 84 at its August 19 meeting to be held at 7 pm at the Monterey City Council Chambers; the meeting is open to the public.

that tree and sand bar removal can help. Carl Page said "We must share responsibility, as neighbors we need to work together to solve this problem." Ron Cavat of Mission Fields presented 117 signatures in support of the Zone.

Voters within the zone will get to decide in November. Is this a trend? The zone will share the November ballot with the PROTECT (Protect Resources Of The Entire County Today) citizens initiative. Although not this November, voters may also have the opportunity to vote on the POWR (Protect Our Water Resources) initiative and the Rancho San Carlos referendum which is still in litigation .

Water District Facing Emergencies

CARP Says Cal-Am Does Not Have Enough Legally Pumped Water

By Elizabeth Cowley

On July 15 the Cal-Am Rate Payers group (CARP) asked the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) to declare a water emergency to prepare the community for compliance with State Order 95-10 which ruled that Cal-Am does not have a legal right to 10,730 acre feet of water it has been pumping from the Carmel River.

CARP is a citizens association representing consumers of the Monterey division of Cal-Am supported by former MPWMD Chair's Fran Farina and Patricia Bernardi. CARP has been asking the MPWMD to consider its requests since April. Farina said "We are here to ask you to declare a water emergency." CARP asked the board to prepare a rationing plan designed to achieve a 50-70% reduction in water demand, place a moratorium on new water connections and water use intensification, rescind Ordinances 74 and 75 which allow for water reinvestment credits, institute mandatory retrofitting, prohibit the expansion of Cal-Am service territory within the Monterey water resources system and to reduce Cal-Am's allocation to conform with the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) Order 95-10. Farina said that Cal-Am is still using the pre-SWRCB decision allocation number of 17,621 acre feet when the state only allows 15,285 acre feet, which includes "borrowed" water to which it does not have a legal right.

"Our history has been with droughts but I need you to consider this emergency in terms of our legal right to water." Farina said. Cal-Am has a right to 3376 acre feet from the Carmel River and an additional 4000 acre feet from the Seaside basin for a total legal water supply for of 7376 acre feet. Farina pointed out that in the 1976-77 drought - when we were limited to 50 gallons a day - Cal-Am was pumping 8500 acre feet and now we have only 7376 legal acre feet with a significant increase in population.

The SWRCB required Cal-Am to reduce pumping by 15% to 11,990 acre feet for water year 1995-96 and further reduce pumping to 11,285 acre feet for water year 1996-97. The SWRCB has not specifically said what it will do after this date but it has referred to Cal-Am's use of this water as "interim". Darby Furst, MPWMD general manager, said that Cal-Am projects that it will not surpass its production restriction this year. Farina said "We are not feeling anything at this time is because the state is allowing us to borrow water .... it is unrealistic for this board to assume that their patience will continue. You have to think in terms of what you can legally take from that system."

"The word was illegal, its not like its not there." Director Pendergrass said of the state order adding that there is "radicalism on the Peninsula" and that he couldn't believe that people would "create an artificial drought."

Director Ely said they should not declare a water emergency but that a moratorium is in order and that the MPWMD should look at rationing and using the updated allocation figure.

The board decided to postpone any further consideration of CARP's requests until December when a MPWMD staff report on water availability and use is expected to be completed.

SWRCB Order 95-10 ruled that the 10,730 acre feet of illegal Cal-Am diversions had to be replaced because the diversions have caused environmental damage to the Carmel River.

In other MPWMD news, Chair Darlene Burkleo directed staff to set a meeting of the board of directors to discuss "director behavior" in an attempt to improve their public image.

The Sun's CVPOA Report

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association (CVPOA) held its regular monthly meeting on July 10 at the Mid Valley Fire Station.

Jerry Clark, chair of the Public Health and Safety Committee, reported that the Monterey County Board of Supervisors is holding $96,000 of Measure A funds which were collected to upgrade ambulance service. The court ruled that the Supervisors had to give the ambulance company $30,000 but they are asking for $70,000. Clark commented that the ambulance company may run out of money due to legal fees but that fire related services in Carmel Valley will not be compromised.

Matthew Sundt, co-chair of the Land Use Committee, reported that Dale Ellis from the Monterey County Planning Department has agreed to pursue a definition of a "Visitor Accommodation Unit". A visitor accommodation unit generally refers to a hotel room however the county has no specific definition of what that means. The CVPOA has asked for clarification due to plans by Carmel Valley Ranch to build single family dwellings with several bedrooms as visitor accommodation units.

In other land use news it was reported that an 18 hole golf course has been proposed in lieu of 78 homes on Clint Eastwood's portion of the Montera Ranch development. Patricia Bernardi commented that the exchange is not a deal in terms of water use as the 78 homes would use about 48 acre feet of water while a golf course would require about 300 acre feet.

George Boehlert, co-chair of the Water Management Committee, reported that the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) is proceeding with the allocation of 150 acre feet of water from the Pebble Beach water reclamation plant. The 150 acre feet is to be divided equally between the 8 jurisdictions within the MPWMD. The plant treats waste water for irrigation use thus freeing up potable water. The CVPOA opposed this allocation because the reclamation plant has not yet met its expectation of 800 acre feet due to flooding in 1995, start up problems and unanticipated salt content in the reclaimed water making it unsuitable for irrigating the greens of Pebble Beach golf courses. In addition the CVPOA opposed the allocation because of the State Water Resources Control Board's order that Cal-Am replace over 10,000 acre feet of illegally diverted Carmel River water. The CVPOA believes it is irresponsible for the MPWMD to allocate water for new use when 10,000 acre feet need to be replaced.

Chris Cayce, CVPOA President, reported that Chateau Julian has purchased the Christmas tree lot next to it and intends to use it as a parking lot.

Patricia Bernardi advised the board that a rash of strange car break-ins have occurred in the past week in the early morning hours. Bernardi said her car was broken into in front of her house and that tapes were stolen and that similar thefts were reported throughout the Carmel Valley.

The next CVPOA meeting will be held on August 14 at 7:30 pm at the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Station; the meeting is open to the public.

YOUR WORLD & MINE

"Once More into the Breach,
Dear Friends"

There are friends out there for us environmentalists, giving their blood, sweat, and tears for the things we care about ... our forests, clean air and water, homeless people, starving children, trapped and hunted wild creatures, stray dogs and cats.

Our friends are all part of what philosopher-economist Jeremy Rifkin calls the "third sector". (The other two parts of our system are the market and government). This third sector is every volunteer supported group, from the Lion's Club to the World Society for the Protection of Animals. More than ninety-four million Americans give time and effort to these groups, and a lot of them are working for the environment, for the beautiful world God gave us.

Dilworth Says Water District Did Not Answer His Questions

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

Letter dated July 12, 1996 from David Dilworth to Monterey Peninsula Water District: H. Stern and Joe Oliver:

Dear Ms. Stern & Mr. Oliver:

Thank you for your prompt response.

Unfortunately the answers given to the first question are far from complete.

1) Even your own Water District staff confirms there are at least 6 (six) drinking water wells at the Carmel Wastewater District Reclamation Plant built since 1978.

They may have been used for construction dewatering or other purposes. If you don't officially know about the existence of these and their pumping of drinking water, I hope you will take the effort to do so - on your own initiative and substantially before Monday's meeting. If not, you can expect the Board will hear about it at that time.

2) Since you don't know of the existence of such wells, how can you state so emphatically that there has been no pumping of drinking water since 1978? Put simply - your answer is wrong - drinking water has been pumped from wells connected to the CAWD Reclamation Plant since 1978. It is your responsibility to tell the Board and the public how much and when.

Once again I request:

* Please include monthly pumping records for each well at, or connected to the Carmel Wastewater Reclamation Plant for the past three years.

* Additionally, please include the total drinking water inflow to that plant - which does not come from those wells.

* Please describe the disposition and use of all this water.

Thank you.

COMPUTER TALK

Val Healey

Part 19 - An introduction to computers at a naively simple level

In hard drives and floppy diskettes, to aid positioning the data and later recalling it, the surfaces are divided into concentric circular "tracks", which can store 50 KB or more. Because many files of information will be much smaller than this, it makes sense to divide each track into equal size sectors. Then the information can be stored at locations on the surfaces that are fixed by numbering the tracks and sectors and it should be appreciated that there can be as many as 3000 tracks per radial inch. Nowadays, most sectors store about 512 bytes of information but there can be anything from about 15 to about 100 sectors/tracks. If the information to be stored contains more than 512 bytes the surplus is stored in other sectors and the adjacent ones will be used if they are available. When a drive has been used for a while, the data can become scattered all over the place or "fragmented" and performance will degrade. In this case a reorganizing process called "defragmentation" has to be carried out.

Before a hard drive can be used at all it must be put through a process called "formatting" and a special program in the OS does this. Pre-formatted diskettes can be bought nowadays. This type of formatting, which erases all data, should not be confused with formatting documents in word processors or spreadsheets. In disk formatting the tracks and sectors are mapped out and numbered, with some sectors, and a small portion of all sectors, set aside for disk management information. The result is that a formatted surface can hold a few percent less information than an unformatted one. If one wants to have two operating systems in a computer, either a second hard drive must be added to the system, or the original drive must be "partitioned" so that it appears to the software as two separate drives.

An important parameter for hard drives is the speed of operation, which can be defined in several ways but the "average seek time" (ast) is probably the most common measure. In 1985, a 10 mb hard drive was "huge" and typically had an ast of 85 millisecs. (ms). In today's drives the ast is quite often 8-10 ms.

Both hard and floppy drives need a component called a "controller" to operate them and these come in several kinds: ide (integrated drive electronics), eide (enhanced ide) and scsi (small computer system interface), which is pronounced scuzzy. The controller may be built into the motherboard, or into the drive itself, or it may be a card that is plugged into the motherboard. To summarize briefly: the ide drive is simplest to configure, the least expensive, is older, slower, but often has no built-in controller. Eide usually has a built-in controller and can be as fast as scsi. The scsi usually has a built-in controller, really shines in special computers called "servers", to which many other computers are attached, but is the most expensive of all. If the controller is not built into the drive, and is not in the motherboard, the plug-in card has to be bought separately and installed. Like other components in the computer, drivers are needed for the drives and they are usually supplied on diskettes.

A final few words: avoid the old 5.25" diskettes wherever possible as there is often confusion between different information densities which may waste a great deal of time and possibly lose your data. The newer 3.5" diskettes hold more information (1.44 mb vs. 1.2 mb), are smaller, much more robust, and far better protected from dust. To avoid data loss, floppy diskettes should be kept away from strong electromagnetic fields which exist in front of tvs and monitors and near telephones.

In the next part we will look at video cards and monitors.

CVPOA Report Lists New Development In Carmel Valley

Peter Salmonsen, Chair of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association (CVPOA) Land Use Committee, presented the following status report on Carmel and Carmel Valley development projects at the July 10 CVPOA meeting.

The Carmel Greens project, consisting of 99 units on 22.4 acres, is not proceeding as planned at this time.

The Rancho San Carlos project including 300 lots, 50 employee units, golf course, and a 150 room hotel on 20,000 acres was approved by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors on February 6, 1996. Before the final subdivision map can be recorded, 203 environmental conditions must first be met which is expected to take at least one year.

The September Ranch project consisting of 100 lots and 17 inclusionary units on 891 acres has been annexed into the Cal-Am service area however a secure water source will not be determined until after the Environmental Impact Report is complete.

The Canada Woods project consisting of 54 lots on 900 acres on the north side of Carmel Valley Road has received authorization for pre-grading however the final map has not yet been filed. The water sources is to be reclaimed water and agricultural water from the Williams property. Fifteen rental units are planned for the 50 acres on the south side of Carmel Valley Road, 39 acres are to remain as open space and for agricultural use in perpetuity.

A commercial area on 49 acres of the Wolters property is being planned and is a part of the Carmel Valley Master Plan.

Nine lots have been approved on Rancho Carmel (Holt Ranch); the application for a 59 lot subdivision on 419 acres has been withdrawn.

Construction has began on 64 single family homes in area F, above the hotel, of the Carmel Valley Ranch. Forty-four additional hotel rooms are also planned.

As of January 1996 the Planning Department reported that based on the 20 year Carmel Valley Master Plan, 189 of the 572 lots of record have been permitted leaving 383 and of the 738 new lots authorized, 143.5 have been granted leaving 594.5.

Tarantino has used 56 4 x 4 posts without his authorization. This is a result of an on going domestic dispute.

* On Guadalupe, Carmel, Burligh reported hearing noises outside her house. No evidence of a prowler found, possibly a raccoon.

* At Laguna Robles, Carmel Valley, Mathewson reported that her tenant, Jay Jones, came home intoxicated and was being loud. She said he knocked on her locked bedroom door and scared her. She said he had numerous weapons and that she feared for her safety. She is in the process of a landlord tenant dispute with Jones. Jones was not intoxicated and voluntarily gave deputies his weapons for safe keeping to help resolve the situation.

7-8-96 Third watch. Deputies Ragan, Burke, Krebs, Anderson, Hernandez, Mason.

* Wolters, 68, of San Carlos, Pebble Beach, called to report that she received a suspicious phone call.

* Jan Miller, Longs Prevention Officer, Crossroads Mall, reported Leonel Sadot Mata, 19, Seaside, in custody for shoplifting a pair of sunglasses valued at $9.99. Mata cited and released.

* Gertrude Carlin, of Holt Rd., CV, reported that she no longer wanted her home caregiver, Manuela Sison, in the residence. Sison contacted another caregiver who stayed with Carlin.

* David Petenbrink of Ford Rd., called to report a disturbance involving he and his wife, Jill Petenbrink. They were arguing over money.

* Lorraine Tarantino of Fern Ct., called to report lye dumped on the ground. She believes it was done by her ex-boyfriend, Timothy Smith.

* On Rio Rd., Carmel, a 16 year old reported hearing noises to the rear of the condo. An area check was conducted and a table was found to be knocked over. Two raccoons were seen leaving the area.

7-9-96 First watch. Deputies Clark, Rodriguez, Duenas.

* At El Rio and El Potrero, CV, report of a male yelling in the area. Contacted Ryan Donoghue who was in his grn. VW bus at El Rio and El Potrero. Donoghue had just gotten into an altercation with his girlfriend, Erin Whiteman, of El Potrero. Donoghue was under the influence of alcohol and belligerent upon contact. He was arrested for being drunk in public.
